DETAILED ACTION

This is a non-final action. Applicant canceled Claim 1. Claims 2-6 are pending below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 2-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Curtis (U.S. Patent No. 3,798,865) in view of Spronken (U.S. Patent No. 5,590,503).

Claim 2: Curtis discloses a clip (Fig. 2) that attaches to a molding (Fig. 5: 40) and supports a beam end (16) in a ceiling, the clip having a first leg (proximate 56) that extends along the molding and a second leg (60) that supports the beam end and extends away from the wall molding face at a right angle to the first leg, a slot (68) in the second leg having a horizontal segment that extends toward the molding face, and the slot is capable of receiving a screw (78), with the screw free to slide in the slot. Curtis does not disclose the slot as having an inclined portion. Spronken discloses a clip (Fig. 5) having a slot (40) that extends at an incline and a horizontally. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to have the slot configuration from the clip in Spronken in the clip in Curtis in order to aid in the ease of installation of the beam member while maintaining the function of being able to adjust horizontally.

Claim 3: the screw in Curtis (78) is capable of being tightened in the slot to fix the beam end in the clip.

Claim 4: the beam end (16) would be elevated above the molding (40) as it traveled in accordance with the slot in Spronken, which would prevent interference between the beam end and molding (40)

Claim 5: the beam end (Curtis 16) would be elevated above the molding (40) with the slot in Curtis in view of Spronken during the sliding of the screw in the inclined segment of the slot.

Claim 6: the structure in Curtis in view of Spronken could be used in geographic zones prone to seismic events.
